Quote of the week!

“In any moment of decision, the best thing you can do is the right thing. The worst thing you can do is nothing.” – Theodore Roosevelt

Many times bad things happen because no one is willing to do anything about stopping them. You might not even be able to stop something bad from happening by doing the right thing, but that you tried is enough. It could even inspire or comfort another person that you stepped up to do the right thing.
